BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE WITH A MAJOR IN

RELIGION AND CULTURE

Overview

The Religion and Culture degree program studies religion through social and cultural lenses. This program helps students develop a rich understanding of diverse religions and cultures, which is crucial to making sense of pressing global issues today. Students majoring in Religion and Culture examine stories, beliefs, rituals, and scriptures, among other expressions of purpose and meaning found in the cultures of the world. This program equips students with skills much in demand in various fields of employment, including critical analysis and interpretive abilities, coherent writing, and cultural awareness.

“The Religion and Culture program has exposed me to diverse material and helps me to feel prepared to work or study in a variety of fields.”

- Annie McBay, BA Honours (Religion & Culture)
