Interdepartmental Minor

INTRODUCTION

The Interdepartmental Minor in Comparative Literature was introduced in 2016 by the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, as a new Minor open to all students. The University of Winnipeg is the only institution in Manitoba offering a program in Comparative Literature.

Comparative Literature is the study of literary expression across linguistic, cultural or national borders. Most often, it examines a genre, a theme, a style, an historical or cultural event, as it appears in literary works written in two or more different languages (works read in translation). The range of inquiry may include comparisons between literature and other artistic forms (such as painting, film, photography, music, or oral tradition), as well as with other academic domains (such as linguistics, philosophy, politics or science).

The Comparative Literature Minor offers a diverse intercultural reading program, aimed at international awareness, knowledge and understanding. Comparative Literature, with its intercultural and transnational focus, is particularly appealing to Humanities majors, and to any student interested in languages, bilingualism or relations between language and culture. Comparatists have, or develop, some interest in translation studies, critical theory, history, art, or cultural and literary studies, among other fields. The Minor gives students the opportunity for a flexible reading program suited to their personal interests and to a liberal arts education.

Comparative Literature is a domain in expansion in many universities in North America and in the world, and this Minor constitutes an excellent undergraduate preparation for further graduate options.
