Master of Arts in Indigenous Governance
The Department of Indigenous Studies is grounded in the intellectual and cultural heritage of Indigenous peoples in Canada and around the globe. Students from all backgrounds and disciplines develop critical thinking skills through interdisciplinary coursework. The relationship of the Department with Indigenous peoples in Canada and abroad is one of reciprocity and support. The preparation of students includes the introduction of alternative world views involving interrelated themes of land, self-determination, cultural preservation and revitalization, indigenous knowledge and natural resources, historical agency, and representations of Indigenous peoples.

The Master of Arts in Indigenous Governance is a multidisciplinary program grounded in an understanding of Indigenous peoples’ values, principles, and philosophies. The approach we foster is one that combines a supportive environment for students of all backgrounds while modeling and fostering the highest standards of excellence inside and outside of the classroom. We recognize and honor the central role of language as carrier of culture, conveyor of tradition and knowledge, and signifier of individual and community identity by requiring the study of an indigenous language, for example, Ojibwe or Cree. An international focus will prepare students to take leadership positions in the private and public sectors, to create and influence policy, to creatively approach development from an indigenous perspective, and to promote the visibility and recognition of sovereign Indigenous peoples and communities in Canada and abroad.

The program’s specific objectives are to:

- Provide studies in matters of good governance grounded in indigenous thought and values.
- Provide an in-depth understanding of the human, environmental and financial issues and processes relevant to indigenous self-determination.
- Promote leadership and skills in areas of policy development and professional practice relevant to indigenous governance and public service organizations working with Indigenous peoples.
- Create a new intellectual space to engage indigenous and non-indigenous scholars in the gathering, application and evolution of indigenous knowledge, philosophies, and governance models.

M.A. DEGREE PROGRAM

Course Work and Thesis
This is a two year Master of Arts Program that offers the students the choice of completing the requirements of the degree via two unique streams. Students can choose to write a thesis, which is defended orally and assessed by a committee. Alternatively, students may choose to complete a practicum assignment with a relevant Indigenous organization, community or governments. Students are required to take a total of 30 credit hours of work including 21 credit hours of required courses and 3 credit hours of elective courses. The remaining 6 credits are earned through the thesis or practicum, depending on the stream chosen.

Required Courses

GIS-7021(6) Pathways to Indigenous Wisdom
GIS-7022(6) Indigenous Research Methodologies and Ethics
GIS-7020(3) Indigenous Self Determination
GIS-7101(6) Master’s Thesis
GIS-7102 (6) Practicum

AND one of either*
GIS-1101(6) Introductory Cree OR
GIS-1201(6) Introductory Ojibwe

*Indigenous Studies department will accept proof of proficiency or study in another indigenous language to waive language requirement.
Courses and Descriptions

Elective Courses

- GIS-7023(3) Indigenous Peoples, Globalization and Development (experimental course)
- GIS-7024(3) Biocultural Diversity Conservation: Balancing scientific and indigenous knowledge practices.
- GIS-7025(3) Indigenous Language Rights
- GIS-7026(3) Community Food Security: Indigenous and International Perspectives
- GIS-7028(6) Human and Indigenous Rights in Latin America
- GIS 7703 (3) Indigenous Education in an Era of Globalization
- GIS-7030(3/6) Directed Readings
- GIS-7200(3/6) Seminar in Selected Topics

Please note that not all elective courses are offered every year. In addition, in consultation with their advisor, students may take relevant courses in other Departments and Master programs. With the approval of the Chair Department Graduate Committee, students could also take graduate course offered in other universities through the Western Dean Agreement.

Course Descriptions

GIS-1101(6) Introductory Cree (Le3, La1)
This course is intended for students who are not fluent in Cree and have never taken a course in the language. The emphasis is primarily on oral work for the purpose of learning basic sounds, vocabulary, and grammatical patterns. Structural differences between Cree and English are highlighted.

GIS-1201(6) Introductory Ojibwe (Le3, La1)
This course is intended for students who are not fluent in Ojibwe and have never taken a course in the language. The emphasis is primarily on oral work for the purpose of learning basic sounds, vocabulary, and grammatical patterns. Structural differences between Ojibwe and English are highlighted.

GIS-7020(3) Indigenous Self Determination (Le3)
This course brings to the academy a pivotal concept for the present and future of Indigenous peoples. How Indigenous peoples face and deal with colonization, imperialism, and globalization will depend upon the critical understanding and realizations of self-determination. The legal, political, social, and cultural connotations around self-determination for Indigenous peoples are considered. The course is focused not only on theoretical considerations but is designed to bring issues of self-determination into the collective and individuals lives of those who identify themselves with the concerns of Indigenous peoples.

Prerequisites: Admittance into MA program OR instructor’s permission

Restrictions: Students who have completed IS-7022(6) may not enrol in GIS-7022(6).

Cross-listed: IS 4022

GIS-7024(3) Biocultural Diversity Conservation: Balancing Scientific and Indigenous Knowledge Practices (Le3)
This course focuses on the interrelationship between indigenous peoples and their environment. Indigenous communities contribute understanding, practices and innovations regarding the use and conservation of biodiversity and natural resources in diverse ecosystems. Indigenous knowledge is recognized in international agreements and efforts are made to integrate it into conservation and management programs. The tensions arising from the confluence of indigenous and scientific knowledge, the opposition of different epistemological approaches, the increasing loss of biodiversity and indigenous cultures, the interconnectedness between biological and cultural diversity are the central themes of this course.

Prerequisites: Admittance into MA program OR instructor’s permission

Cross-listed: IS 4024

GIS-7025: Indigenous Language Rights (Le3)
Indigenous languages are an integral part of Indigenous peoples’ identity, worldview and culture. It is however currently estimated that up to ninety per cent of the world’s Indigenous languages are likely to disappear by the end of the century. This course is designed to provide students with an overview of Indigenous language issues related to culture, advocacy, revitalization, and resistance. Students will be encouraged to critically compare and contrast the treatment of Indigenous languages through legislation, policy, grassroots activism, and educational and systemic efforts in countries such as Canada, the United States, New Zealand, Norway, and Sweden.
GIS-7026: INDIGENOUS FOOD SECURITY (Le/Se3)
Community food security is gaining wider recognition and importance. The course focuses on a diverse range of self-organized food systems to improve, maintain and enhance their health, well-being, resilience and ecological sustainability originated and nurtured by Indigenous and socially-economically under-represented local communities. It also examines Canadian and international case studies and empirical research on Indigenous voices, knowledges and perspectives on their own food systems. This course explores and critically engages students with the concepts, approaches, practices and challenges of Indigenous food production, consumption and distribution and their role in achieving community food security.

GIS-7030(3 or 6) DIRECTED READINGS (D3 or 6) In this course, readings and assignments in the area of Indigenous Governance are arranged between an individual student and the instructor. Topics may not duplicate regular course offerings in Indigenous Studies or other departments. This course is an opportunity to explore a specialized topic in the interdisciplinary context of the field. Examples of potential topics: comparing Canadian and New Zealand/Aotearoa treaty rights efforts; analyzing effects of First Nations provincial and national coalitions on policy at various levels; ethnohistorical research on settler-Indigenous political interactions.

PREREQUISITES: Admittance into MA program AND/OR instructor’s permission

GIS-7101(6) MASTER’S THESIS Students choose a research topic in consultation with a Thesis supervisor and write a Thesis paper. Thesis are evaluated by a Thesis Committee and then are presented in an oral defense.

PREREQUISITES: Student in the MA in Indigenous Governance program under the thesis stream

GIS-7102 (6) PRACTICUM INDIGENOUS WORK PLACEMENT Students are placed with a host organization (an Indigenous organization, a public service organization, or a non-governmental organization, for example) for the purpose of developing research or applied policy skills in the area of Indigenous governance, as broadly understood. The aim of the course is for students to develop experiential learning skills and understandings of community-engaged scholarship and practice. The placement takes place under the terms agreed upon with the student, the Practicum Academic Supervisor, and the practicum host.

PREREQUISITES: Student in the MA in Indigenous Governance program under the practicum stream.

GIS-7200 (3 or 6) SEMINAR IN SELECTED TOPICS (Le3 or 6) This course focuses on particular aspects of Indigenous governance. The selected topic is discussed in seminar format. It may be approached in a variety of ways, including philosophical, ecological, social/cultural, economic, political, or artistically. The course may be repeated for credit when the topic varies.

GIS-7028 (3 or 6) HUMAN AND INDIGENOUS RIGHTS IN LATIN AMERICA (Le 6) Indigenous nationalities and other marginalized minority groups in Latin America have developed innovative strategies, alliances and forms of political participation to achieve recognition of their rights and to contribute to new political configurations in the region. This course studies the dynamic situation of Indigenous and human rights and social conflicts in Latin America. Topics include contested definitions of individual and collective rights, responses to human rights abuses and intersections between human rights frameworks and related peace-building processes. A country or sub-region may be selected for an in-depth case study, and may vary in different times that the course is offered.

PREREQUISITES: Admittance into MA program OR instructor’s permission

CROSS-LISTED: IS 4028 and HR 4210

GIS 7703 (3) INDIGENOUS EDUCATION IN AN ERA OF GLOBALIZATION (Se 3) This course examines various Indigenous learning systems and their adaptations within a global world. As societies become more integrated through globalization, traditional Indigenous learning systems are being challenged as to their viability. In response, Indigenous peoples are developing and adapting their learning systems to meet the challenges that are occurring to the social fabric of their cultures. More generally, this course brings Indigenous perspectives on education to the analysis of globalization.

PREREQUISITES: Admittance into MA program OR instructor’s permission.

CROSS-LISTED: GDP 7703

GIS-7023(3) INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, GLOBALIZATION AND DEVELOPMENT (Le3) Indigenous peoples today are enmeshed in the expanding modern economy, subject to the pressures of both market and government. More and more Indigenous communities are rejecting the traditional capitalist vision of development as human and environmental exploitation and focusing on new types of local development projects. This course analyzes some of the conflicts associated with traditional development projects in indigenous communities Taking indigenous peoples as actors, not victims, as its starting point, the class will then examine innovations in indigenous economic development that are culturally respectful, environmentally responsible and build a new sense of community.
