

THE UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG

FACULTY OF GRADUATE STUDIES

The University of Winnipeg offers thirteen distinct graduate level programs. Many of the programs are multi-disciplinary and several are unique in all of Western Canada, for example our Master of Arts in Indigenous Governance. Whether you are continuing your education at the Master's level after your undergraduate degree, or contemplating a new field of study after being in the workforce, the graduate programs at the University of Winnipeg will meet your needs and exceed your expectations.

There are many good reasons for students to choose The University of Winnipeg for their graduate studies. We offer diverse programs, award-winning professors, and unique research opportunities. We are highly ranked among small Canadian universities. We are distinguished by small class sizes, personal attention to students, accessible professors, and downtown location. We aim to help students excel and to ensure that they have a superior student experience.
