

We are Canada's federal police force, providing services from coast-to-coast at the federal, provincial and municipal level. Career opportunities in the RCMP exist for people who are interested in a career as police officers or civilian employees who work together to handle the wide scope of our responsibilities in keeping Canadians safe. The strength of our organization lies with our employees who serve to protect our diverse country. Diversity in our workforce provides us with an enhanced understanding of cultural issues and helps us to work even closer within the communities we serve.
