BACHELOR OF EDUCATION DEGREE

Overview

There is more to an education degree than only a teaching career. Most students who graduate with a Bachelor of Education Degree do become classroom teachers; however, there are many other options to choose from, such as careers in: human resources, corporate training, social work, or counselling. Bachelor of Education graduates may also find success in program development and implementation.

“Now that I am out in ‘the real world’ I really appreciate the high calibre of knowledge and skill that Education professors pass on to their students. My courses taught me to be a flexible and competent teacher.”

- Alexandra Lamb (BA/B.Ed.), teacher at a Montreal high school
