BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE WITH A MAJOR IN

HISTORY

Overview

A major in History teaches students to understand events, analyze and appreciate what has taken place, and then draw educated conclusions - a valuable skill essential in any profession. A Bachelor's degree in History is not designed as preparation for any particular career, but rather provides training for any type of work where research, evaluation and communication skills are utilized.

"My experience in the UWinnipeg History Honours program was incredible, and I am thankful to have had the opportunity to interact with so many accomplished colleagues and faculty members. The faculty members I had the opportunity to work with invested themselves wholeheartedly into the success of their students, and I would not be where I am on my academic journey today if it had not been for these interactions during my time in the Honours program.

The program does a great job of preparing students to become involved in academia, and I would recommend it to anyone interested in furthering their understandings of historical topics, and challenging themselves academically. I wish future Honours students success in the program, and I sincerely hope that they enjoy the program as much as I did."

- Madison Herget-Schmidt, BAH in History
