

THE UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG

The Department of Anthropology and the Caribbean Research Institute proudly present guest lecturer:

Dr. Ivor Conolley

"Jamaican Archaeology: Outline and Issues"

This presentation will centre on Jamaica's prehistory focussing in the Jamaican Taíno including:

1. Emergence of the Taíno in the Caribbean
2. Pre-Taíno culture in Jamaica
3. The Taíno in Jamaica: challenges in classification and socio-political development
4. Brief overview of petroglyphs and pictograms in Taíno Jamaica

Photo provided by Ivor Conolley:

Ivor Conolley showing student how to match soil colours using a Munsell Colour chart.

Monday, November 14th
12:30 pm – 2:20 pm
Room 1C16A

Contact us today for more Information:
204-789-4201
t.trupp@uwinnipeg.ca

*Please note that this lecture will take place via teleconference.

Ivor Conolley is a Caribbean archaeologist with a focus on Jamaican archaeology. He has excavated numerous sites ranging from pre-Columbian to plantation and industrial sites.