

FACULTY OF ARTS

MENNONITE STUDIES

Mennonite Studies is an interdisciplinary program that explores the history, social relations, religious ideals, and culture of the Mennonites.

This program offers students an opportunity to study the rich heritage of the Mennonites and their contribution to society. Through small courses and seminars, students will explore the past and present culture of the Mennonites, especially their deeply-rooted commitment to peace and non-violence. The question of how the Mennonites evolved from the radical 16th century Anabaptists to a globalized people seeking peace, community and justice is a major part of the program.

By creating a flexible major in Mennonite Studies, this program leads to a Bachelor of Arts degree (3-year). Students taking an undergraduate degree in another Major may choose to add a Minor in Mennonite Studies as a secondary area of interest. To create a flexible major, contact Dr. Ben Nobbs-Thiessen, Chair in Mennonite Studies at b.nobbs-thiessen@uwinnipeg.ca.

It is also possible to earn a Master of Arts with a focus on Mennonite History. Prospective students are encouraged to apply to the Joint Master Program in History through the University of Winnipeg and apply for one of the two graduate fellowships in the history of Mennonite culture and society.

SAMPLE CAREERS

This program is especially relevant to students who intend to pursue work or further study in the areas of multiculturalism, immigration, ethnicity, peace and nonviolence. Graduates who have taken Mennonite Studies courses include teachers, archivists, historians, pastors, counsellors, community organizers and social workers.

SAMPLE COURSES

Mennonite Studies I is a second-year course that examines the history and religious ideals of the radical Anabaptists of sixteenth century Europe. It covers such topics as nonviolent protest, mysticism, martyrdom, female leadership, migration, and radical biblicism.

Conflict and Mennonites is a third-year course that explores the Anabaptist and Mennonite understanding and experience of pacifism and nonviolence throughout the centuries.

Gender and Mennonites is a third-year course that asks how women and men have related in Mennonite society over time. It also asks how Mennonites have defined the concepts of masculinity and femininity.
