

GUPTA FACULTY OF KINESIOLOGY AND APPLIED HEALTH

PHYSICAL AND HEALTH EDUCATION (BPHE)

Students can become physical education teachers by taking The University of Winnipeg's unique Integrated BEd/BPHE program that combines two degree programs - the Bachelor of Education (BEd) with the Bachelor of Physical and Health (BPHE). Alternatively, students can take the 3-year BPHE degree and then apply to the 2-year after-degree BEd program.

The Department of Kinesiology and Applied Health at The University of Winnipeg is a student-oriented department with small class sizes and accessible professors. Our professors' expertise lies in the areas of physical education pedagogy, health, nutrition, adapted physical activity, physical activity and aging, coaching, exercise and sport psychology, and motor behaviour.

Also, see other related fact sheets in "Kinesiology", "Athletic Therapy" and "Exercise Science."

SAMPLE CAREERS

Career opportunities for graduates are in the school system. There are also education-related positions in government and industry.

SAMPLE COURSES

Introduction to Kinesiology is a first-year course that introduces the study of human movement. Questions of interest related to sport sciences, motor behaviour, physical fitness, sport psychology, and athletic therapy are discussed.

Teaching Team or Teaching Individual Activities are first-year courses that introduce principles of instruction, teaching methods & theories, and pedagogical practices in physical education.

Human Anatomy involves the study of the human anatomical systems and their integration. Special emphasis will be placed on the skeletal, articular, and muscular systems. Students will also begin to undertake the analysis of movement.

Issues in Health is a second-year course that examines current topics in health and wellness. A key focus is promoting healthy behaviours in schools and communities.
