

CANADIAN JOURNAL OF URBAN RESEARCH
Revue canadienne de recherche urbaine
Volume 22, Issue 1, Summer 2013

Diversity and Public Space in Canadian Cities
Special Issue

CONTENTS

Editor's Introduction	ii
Articles
Funding Matters: The Maze of Settlement Funding in Canada and the Impact on Refugee Services Susan and Ian McGrath	1
Marginalized Expertise of Community Organizations in Quebec's Search for Interculturalism Liette Gilbert, Leela Viswanathan and Parastou Saberi	21
In Search of Nimmathi for Social Sustainability? Imagining, Building, and Negotiating Spaces of Peace in Toronto's Diverse Neighbourhoods Ranu Basu	44
Intercultural Public Spaces in Multicultural Toronto Michail Galanakis	67
The Exclusionary Politics of Creative Communities: The Case of Kensington Market Pedestrian Sundays Heather McLean and Barbara Rahder	90
Citizenship in the 'In-Between City' Patricia Burke Wood	111
Advancing Ontario's Accessibility: A Study of Linguistic, Discursive, and Conceptual Barriers Tim Ross	126
Other Ways of Knowing Your Place: Immigrant Women's Experience of Public Space in Toronto Barbara Rahder and Heather McLean	145
CJUR 22:1 Summer 2013	i