

CALL FOR PAPERS – PWOLL V

Uwinnipeg.ca/pwoll2019

The Interdisciplinary Linguistic Program at the University of Winnipeg is hosting the Fifth Annual Prairie Workshop on Languages and Linguistics (PWOLL V) on Saturday, March 16, 2019. We are happy to announce that . after one-year break . this event which brings together linguists at all levels from prairies and beyond is back on track.

We are inviting abstracts for 20 minute presentations, followed by 5 minute Q&A periods. Abstracts should be:

- anonymous (presenters name and affiliation should be included in the cover email);
- between 200-250 words long, excluding references, and include the title of presentation;
- formatted with one-inch margins in 12 point font;
- in pdf format;
- sent by email to i.roksandic@uwinnipeg.ca with the subject line PWOLL V.+

Abstracts will be reviewed anonymously and results announced two weeks after submission. Topics may include any branch or field of linguistic or language study. As 2019 has been officially proclaimed the International Year of Indigenous Languages, submissions on indigenous languages are particularly encouraged.

Any further questions or concerns can be forwarded to i.roksandic@uwinnipeg.ca.

Relevant dates:

- Abstracts submission deadline: February 15 2019
- Notification of acceptance: March 01 2019
