

Acting III: Advanced Practice, Process and Performance

THFM-3101-001

(formerly Acting III: General)

Fall/Winter 2023/24
MWF 10:30am-12:20pm

Take your acting to the next level! This practical course is a fun, collaborative, and exciting way to build on past performance experience. After exploring styles in second year acting, this course will focus back on current acting practice and culminate in a showcase performance in the theatre. For those who are not pursuing Honours Acting this is a great way to complete your acting training at U of W.

This course will allow you to:

- Solidify foundational aspects of acting
- Maintain a character through a full arc
- Build an actor's toolkit
- Cement script analysis technique
- Fine-tune impulse and moment to moment work
- Learn proper audition technique
- Explore how theatre can serve the larger community
- Learn the art of putting on a play
- Put in to practice collaborative work
- Understand ethical practices
- Develop one's own process

The knowledge you gain in this course will provide the next level of acting skills, but also serve those who: plan to teach drama, want to create and produce their own work, are keen for more theatre experience, or would benefit from transferable skills!
