News from the Faculty of Graduate Studies

Each September the Faculty of Graduate Studies hosts a mandatory Orientation Session to introduce you to the culture of being a graduate student at this institution. Being a Graduate Student has many distinct differences and opportunities that you wouldn't have experienced as an undergraduate student, and we want to make sure that you get through the transition as smoothly as possible. This session will offer some valuable information on what you need to know as a masters student, offer you the opportunity to meet other students at this level and many other activities throughout the afternoon.

International Graduate Students will also have the opportunity to participate in the International Student Services Orientation Session occurring that same day.

This is the link to the Orientation website: <http://www.uwinnipeg.ca/orientation/graduate-students-orientation.html> and your invitation is also attached to this message.

Please join the Facebook event page: <https://www.facebook.com/events/771191302999535/> and I encourage you to send me a friend request (Deanna UWinnipeg) to stay connected on all UW Graduate Studies news.

We ask that all students rsvp their attendance to gradstudies@uwinnipeg.ca
