High speed internet is mandatory. Section material is accessed via nexus.uwinnipeg.ca. This is a three-credit-hour course designed to inspire and initiate the creation of original movement-based theatre work. Students will be introduced to a range of specific performance techniques and principles that will provide them with concrete construction tools for creating new performance work. The course will consist of readings, videos and films, discussions, practical workshops and 'in-class' student performances. Course work will be organized around developing a process of creating several small-scale performance projects. Participants will be required to rehearse and meet with groups outside of class time. There are no scheduled out of class rehearsals with the instructor and no public performances. All classes are
